

Air Combat Command NEWS SERVICE

Recent News

Vietnam veteran serves in Iraq

Fit to fight

Service a 'cut' above

'Bone' knows refueling

Bad driving decisions affect everyone

'I'll guard, you fix'

Airmen keep planes, spirits flying high

Major decision changes, saves lives

'We're behind you'

Fighter Associate Program set to take flight

|

SUBSCRIBE

NEWS INDEX

'Bone' knows refueling

8/8/2003 - ELLSWORTH AIR FORCE BASE, S.D. (ACCNS) -- A B-1 Lancer from the 37th Bomb Squadron here maneuvers to align with the boom of an Air National Guard KC-135 Stratotanker from the 190th Air Refueling Wing, based at Forbes Field in Topeka, Kan. The 190th ARW was participating in a week-long exercise at Ellsworth. Nine base members, including two Army National Guard augmentees to security forces, were aboard the KC-135 as part of an incentive flight to witness the refueling process. (Air Force photo by Airman 1st Class Jason Piatek)

Air Combat Command Public Affairs, United States Air Force, ACC/PAI