08/09/02 - MCCONNELL AIR FORCE BASE, Kan. (AFPN) -- A B-1 Lancer takes off from the flightline at McConnell Air Force Base, Kan., for the last time. The B-1 bomber era of the Kansas Air National Guard's 184th Bomb Wing here ended recently as part of an Air Force initiative to consolidate the aircraft. B-1s from McConnell, Robins AFB, Ga., and Mountain Home AFB, Idaho, are being relocated to Dyess AFB, Texas, and Ellsworth AFB, S.D. In the process, 32 B-1s will be retired. The plan to consolidate the B-1 fleet was first introduced by officials in June 2001 to provide savings to be used for future aircraft upgrades. (Photo by Master Sgt. Angel Acosta)
